

PARTICIPANT BIOS
AMAZON AGM INVESTOR BRIEFING

Sharon Hendricks, Moderator

Sharon Hendricks, a communication studies faculty member at Los Angeles City College for the past 16 years, was elected in 2011 to the California State Teachers' Retirement System board where she currently leads as Board Vice Chair. Sharon also serves on the board of the Principles for Responsible Investing (UNPRI) – a global organization focused on incorporating environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors in investment decisions and active ownership. In addition, she serves on the working group for the Trustee Leadership Forum, part of the Initiative for Responsible Investment at Harvard Kennedy School, chairs the American Federation of Teachers Trustee Council and partners in convening the California Trustee Network.

Sharon is also an Associate Professor at Los Angeles City College and the Treasurer of the Los Angeles College Faculty Guild, AFT Local 1521.

Jennifer Bates

Jennifer Bates is a worker organizer at Amazon's fulfillment center BHM1 in Bessemer, Alabama. Jennifer has been at the facility since May 2020 and is a leader of the BAmazonUnion (RWDSU) organizing effort.

Sindy Cardona

Sindy Cardona works at Amazon's warehouse facility in Barcelona, Spain. Sindy is a representative on the health and safety committee and a union delegate with Comisiones Obreras (COO), Spain's largest trade union federation.

John Logan

John Logan is Professor and Director of Labor and Employment Studies at San Francisco State University and a visiting scholar at the University of California-Berkeley Labor Center. Between 2000-2009, he was an assistant and associate professor of comparative employment relations at the London School of Economics and Political Science. He has published widely on employer opposition to unionization and on anti-union law and consultant firms.

John holds a Ph.D. in U.S. labor history from the University of California, Davis.

Brad Lander

New York City Comptroller Brad Lander was elected to serve as the City's budget watchdog and chief accountability officer on November 2nd, 2021. First elected to the City Council in 2009, he co-founded the Council's Progressive Caucus and has a strong track record of partnering with community advocates to win transformative change for a more just and equitable city.

In the City Council, Brad spearheaded efforts to protect workers and build a more equitable economy, working closely with labor advocates to win groundbreaking laws to end unfair firings and establish a fair work week for fast food workers, protect freelancers from wage theft, ban discriminatory credit checks for employment, and guarantee a living wage for app-based drivers and delivery workers.

Brad was one of the founders of Local Progress, now a 1000-member strong network of local elected officials advancing a racial and economic justice agenda through all levels of local government. Prior to holding public office, Brad spent 15 years in the nonprofit sector as the director of the Fifth Avenue Committee and the Pratt Center for Community Development.

Sarah Couturier-Tanoh

As an expert in corporate research and shareholder engagement, Sarah Couturier-Tanoh leads dialogues with Canadian and international companies to advance ESG issues, including decent work, human rights, and corporate lobbying. With a background in non-financial auditing, she has also published several issue briefs on current shareholder and policy topics. Before joining SHARE in 2019, Sarah researched transparency in the extractive industry and climate change-related disclosure at University Laval. Sarah holds a Master's in Environmental Law from University Laval, a Master's in Sustainable Development and Corporate Social Responsibility from University Paris-Dauphine, and a Master's in Comparative Public Law from University Pantheon-Assas, France.